Act Has Teeth That Will Bite,' Andrews Tells Dixie Business Men.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 9 .- (A) Elmer F. Andrews, the wage-hour administrator, told an audience of southern businessmen tonight that the fair labor standards act "has teeth in it" and "we are going to see that they bite when occasion requires."

Addressing the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, he disputed reports of large-scale unemployment resulting from the law, and said that on a recent inspection trip of many thousands of miles he found, with few exceptions, a co-opera-tive spirit among businessmen in all parts of the country.

Saying he did not expect "strong-arm" methods of enforcement to be often necessary, he

at Henry Grady Hotel.

The Constitution's Best All-Round Baby Contest will be decided today. However, those partheir babies may do so by cutting out the coupon on this page and $25 from Johnson. bringing it with them to the Spanish room of the Henry Grady hotel before the judging starts at

The baby voted by the judges to be the "best all-round" will receive a prize of $25. The two next best will win $15 and $10, respectively. The decision of the judges must be regarded as final. The committee will be made up of Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, of the Atlanta Board of Film Review; Miss Jessie Green. Candlish, of the Egleston Memorial Hospital for Children, and Mrs. Mary Austin, photographer of children. Dr. O. T. Malone will aid the judging committee in making their final selection. The "Made for Each Other" baby, Jackie Taylor, who will be seen in the picture by this name opening at Loew's today, vies with the stars of the movie, Carole Lombard and James Stewart, for public favor. He was the result of a search for Hollywood's "Best All-Round" baby, conducted by David O. Selznick, producer of

'Made for Each Other. The Constitution, believing that Atlanta has at least as fine babies as the west coast, sponsors our own contest to find Jackie's counterpart here. All babies of not more than two years of age are eligible. Winners will be an-nounced tomorrow.

AYCOCK DEFENSE ASSAILS WITNESSES

Character Testimony Offered for Ex-Policeman, Accused of Liquor Bribes.

Defense in the trial of Frank J. Aycock, former policeman, charged with accepting bribes to protect pre-repeal bootleggers, yesterday began in Fulton county su-perior court, attacking the character of bootlegging witnesses and offering testimony to establish good character for the defendant.

With Judge Hugh M. Dorsey presiding, the second day of the trial was ended when Doc Sims, policeman and former partner of Aycock, denied Aycock received any money from bootleggers in the autumn of 1936 while he and Aycock were partners.

William Schley Howard, chief defense counsel, and Andrews clashed frequently over the admissibility of certain testimony, but Howard insisted it was intended to show that certain state witnesses had testified falsely when they said payments were made to Aycock and G. B. Scoggins, one of Aycock's partners.

The state rested its case at the noon recess after a morning of testimony closely paralleling that adduced at the trial of Scoggins, with whom Aycock was jointly in-

Paul Johnson, self-termed bootlegger, said he paid Aycock and Scoggins $25 monthly to ignore his fleet of liquor cars, but terminated the agreement in June, 1937; when Will Start at 10:30 O'Clock Aycock demanded another pay ment while Johnson's wife lay ill critically at Georgia Baptist hospital. He said the payments were begun in February and continued through May, 1937.

Aycock is on trial on an indict-ment charging him specifcally ents who have not yet entered with accepting $25 from Jimmy Roberts, another bootlegger, and

Election of Pope

To Wait 15 Days

Feb. 10.—(UP)—Election of the 262d bishop of Rome, successor to Pope Pius XI, most likely will begin in 15 days instead of the hitherto traditional 10, an extension granted by the late pontiff after his election so that

American cardinals may partici-

Every Pope since 1591 has been an Italian. Usually, as at present, there are more Italian cardinals than those of all other nationalities combined. There are now 37 Italian cardinals and 29 of other nationalities. Only members of the Sacred College

The small sound echoed. From the dead came no answer. Into the room throbbed the tolling of bells from Rome's 400 churches for morning Angelus.

Holiness Is Sprinkled. Attendants, watched over by the papal physicians, had washed the pontiff's face, hands and feet for

Monsignor de Romanis began the ceremony by sprinkling the Pope, the other prelates and dignitaries present and the room itself with holy water, repeating at the same time from the Psalms:

"Thou shalt sprinkle me with O Lord, and I shall be nyssop, cleansed; Thou shalt wash me and shall be made whiter than snow. Have mercy on me, O God, according to Thy great mercy. Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Ghost, as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be, world without end.

Monsignor de Romanis gave the Pope holy communion and recited three prayers.

The first besought God that "into this house may come eternal happiness, divine prosperity, serene joy, fruitful charity and lasting health; that the devils may flee; that the angels of peace may be present; that all evil discord may disappear,

The second asked for blessing from God on the house and on all who dwelled in it, that God might give them a good angel as their guardian, that He might pro tect them from all the powers of darkness, from all fear and per

The third again asked that the Angel of God guard, protect, cherish, visit and defend all who dwelt in that abode.

Monsignor de Romanis and the others in the sick room then recited the confiteor, or confession of faith. The monsignor concluded with the sign of the cross.

Sign of the Cross. Approaching closer to the dying pontiff, Monsignor de Romanis made a threefold sign of the cross over him and invoked: "In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, extinguished in thee by the im-position of our hands and by the invocation of all the holy angels, archangels, patriarchs, prophets, apostles, martyrs, confessors, virgins and all the saints. Amen."

Monsignor de Romanis now began the anointing. He used olive oil which was blessed in St. Peter's last Holy Thursday.

Monsignor de Romanis dipped his thumb in the oil and made the sign of the cross on the Pope's closed eyes, saying in Latin:

"By this holy unction and His loving mercy may the Lord pardon thee whatever thou hast sinned by sight.' After removing the oil with one of the pieces of cotton, he made a similar sign of the cross on the Rescue Vessels Plow Through Storm - Tossed Waste in Vain Hunt.

CHATHAM, Mass., Feb. 9.—(P) Her crew of 37 men believed lost, rescue vessels tonight abandoned rescue vessels tonight abandoned search for the British freighter Maria de Larrinaga, which yesterday radioed she was sinking about 1,200 miles east of New York.

Four vessels which left their courses to cruise a storm-tossed waste to the south-eastward of Cape Race, Newfoundland, advised the radiomarine station here they found only a field of wreckage three miles wide and no sign of

The only remaining hope was that the men succeeded in launching life boats and possibly made their way into the milder region of the bulf stream. The rescue vessels, however, after becoming convinced the freighter sank, searched in vain for her boats.

No Sign of Life Boat. In one of the last messages received by the radiomarine station the Cunard-White Star liner Aurania told of steaming for hours through a field of wreckage which extended a mile and a half on each ide of her. In the wreckage were hatch covers, oars, table tops, ladders, but no sign of a life boat. After searching until darkness fell, the Aurania and the American steamer Scanmail said they were resuming their voyages.

Boisterous seas and a high wind accompanied by snow squalls swept the region in which the four ships sought the British freighter. The fury of the weather was in-dicated by the Clintonia, believed a British tramp. She reported her radio had been silenced many hours by water driven into the wireless shack, high on the bridge. PENAL DIRECTOR SOUGHT IN HOUSE BILL,

Recent personnel changes in the Georgia prison system were re-called as Representative Pat Campbell, of Newton, proposed a bill to abolish the State Board of Penal Administration.

His plan would become effective immediately upon passage and signature by the Governor.

It would turn over duties of the present five-man board to a di-rector of penal administration, to be appointed by the Governor and to be paid $4,800 annually. Campbell said the object was to ministration upon one person.

Representative W. H. H. Jones, of Richmond county, proposed that the general assembly call upon the Georgia congressional delegation to urge legislation which would divert 6,000,000 bales of surplus cotton into the manufacture of "the equipments and munitions of war."

Sale and use by the government of the surplus cotton in the specified industries would remove from the market a depressing factor Jones explained. He added that the constant depressing effect of the government holding cotton under loan probably was a greater disturbing factor than would be its use as proposed.

Representative W. H. Lovett, of Laurens, signed the resolution, which also asks the government sell to the Post Office Department 1.000,000 bales of cotton for cotton twine and other materials used by the mail service. Other recommendations were:

HOUSE ALLOCATES $100,000 TO DIES

Legislator Urges Fund for Enforcement of Deportation Laws.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 .- (AP)-The house followed up its decision to continue the Dies committee on un-American activities by appropriating $100,000 today for the renewed investigation.

But, shortly after the action was take on a voice vote, Representative Boland, Democrat, Pennsylvania, the administration whip, suggested that the fund be transferred to the Labor Department for enforcement of existing deportation laws.

Introducing a bill to give the department $100,000 for that purpose, Boland, one of 35 who voted against continuing the committee last Friday, said:

'Why waste more time and money investigating this question when we've already got plenty of evidence and law to solve the problem?"

Representative Dies, Democrat, Texas, chairman of the commit-tee, announced that he would try to assemble a staff of investigators from the ranks of former employes of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Public hearings will not be reopened until this summer, Representative Voorhis, Democrat, California, who has criticized Dies' activities, has been appointed by Speaker Bankhead to fill a vacancy on the committee.

Asked about reports that he for-merly was a Socialist, Voorhis said today that he had voted the So-cialist ticket in California "in the depression years because there wasn't anything else to do." He remarked, however, that he had supported President Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936.

While the two sitting members together with Mr. Alldredge will not constitute by any means a majority of the 12-man board, it nevertheless will insure the south a greater voice in deliberations of the agency and perhaps open the way for joining forces with western members who share the southern opposition to rate differentials.

President Roosevelt was evidentso impressed with the condemnation of the existing national rate structure as contained in the Alldredge TVA report that he sent a copy of it to congress with a brief special message asking that it be published as an official document. Excerpts from it were widely

Another development in the widening nominations fight today was an announcement by Chairman Bailey, Democrat, North Carolina, of the senate commerce committee, that charges had been preferred against one of 11 pointees to important positions with the Maritime Commission and Civil Aeronautics Authority, and that all would be held up pending a subcommittee investigation. Bailey declined to name the individual or to say what the charges were. It quickly developed that both the Biddle and Arant appointments were made in disregard of the wishes of senators of the of Floyd H. Roberts to a Virginia states involved, Senator Donahey, Democrat, Ohio, made it known that Arant had not been his choice and that he was opposed to the nomination because Arant had been a resident of Ohio for only a short time. Senator Guffey, Democrat, Pennsylvania, disclosed that he had recommended, in-buff for John L. Lewis, chairman ginia. of the CIO, and Thomas Kennedy, former lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania and an official of the CIO also. It was known that Guffey proposed Musmanno for the judgeship at their urgent request. However, he had only good words to say for Biddle.

The appointment of a new ICC Manamy stirred opposition in some ranks of organized labor. J. C. Luhrsen, executive secretary of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, declared the Presionly direct representative on the Interstate Commerce Commission. The recent senate vote against Judge Roberts, who was backed by Representative Flannagan, Democrat, Virginia, New Deal congressman from Roberts' home section, was followed by an ex-change of public pronouncements between President Roosevelt and Glass, in which Senator Roosevelt held it was his right to consult whom he chose in making such appointments, and Glass charged that the President was attempting to "purge" Senator Byrd and himself.

Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah, usually a strong supporter of the administration, renewed that controversy today with a senate speech in which he asserted that Mr. Roosevelt's position in the dispute "suggests a spirit that is contrary to much that is good in our American constitutional theory and practice."

Thomas pointed out that the constitution says Federal judges shall be appointed "by and with the advice and consent of the senate," and after a discussion of the constitutional questions involved asserted:

"It would be dangerous, as it has been dangerous, both to the constitutional and the extra-constitutional position of the presi-dency for the President to act without the advice of senators. This I know has been done; great offense has been given.
"It has always brought party dissension, and it will always de-

The Allred nomination came up under procedure requiring unanimous consent for its consideration. Thus, while all reliable indications pointed to senate approval, King was able to defer action sin-le-handedly. Shortly afterward, King told reporters he intended to vote against confirmation. He said the President had ignored Senators Con-nally and Sheppard in making the appointment and that he had "had a large number of letters from Texas" objecting to the Allred WORTH A DIME appointment. In addition, King New Hohenzollern Heir said he supported the objection raised before a senate subcommit-tee by Representative Dies, Dem-ocrat, Texas, that Allred was not a resident of the judicial district to the bench of which he was named.

"I'm opposed to carpet-bagger judges," he said. "In my state we had some of them. I don't believe in sending a judge into a district who is not a resident.

Senator Byrd said the "spirit of the constitution" and established custom called for consultation between the President and the senators on such nominations.

Like Senator Glass, he asserted that the Roberts' appointment was related to the President's "purge" effort, that it was intended to be retaliatory and that the President's "attempt to martyrize Judge Roberts" was "an easily make this recognized effort to make this nomination a political issue.'

Forces Occupy Position Between British and French Strongholds: Protest From Paris Seen

TOKYO, Feb. 10 .- (Friday)-(A)-The Japanese admiralty and war office in a joint announcement today said a landing had been made on Hainan island, between the British strongholds of Hongkong and Singapore and off the coast of French Indo-China. The announcement said a naval landing party plus army regulars made a surprise landing "early this morning" and successfully occupied shore positions.

"The landing party and regulars are now advancing," the communique said.

Observers considered Japan was making good on her oft-repeated threat to "take necessary measures" against alleged importation of arms for China by way of French Indo-China.

For audacity and surprise the action paralleled the sudden attack at Bias bay October 11 which resulted in the rapid occupation of Canton, China's southern metropolis, and the severing of the Hongkong route for China's munitions. In both cases many observers had believed the closeness of extensive European interests would cause the Japanese to hold off. The landing at Hainan, however, brought the Japanese sphere influence against the French who sought to check mate such a move by occupying the Paracel Islands, 150 miles south, last July. A sharp French protest on treaty grounds was expected in foreign

In a treaty signed in Paris in 1907 the Japanese and French exchanged guarantees to respect the mutual rights and interests "in regions of the Chinese empire neighboring those territories where they have sovereignty rights."

In military quarters it was expected Japan immediately would establish an air base at Hainan from which to bomb China's railways and highways in the south and southwest which are being utilized as supply routes.

Press Links 35th Anniversary of Japanese War With Present Crisis.

MOSCOW, Feb. 9.-(AP)-The thirty-fifth anniversary of the start of the Russo-Japanese war was linked by the press today with the present situation between Japan and the Soviet Union, most lately marked by the ordering of a new protest to Tokyo over Soviet-Manchoukuo border fighting. (Belated declarations of war between Japan and imperial Russia appeared February 10, 1904, al-though the Japanese navy struck at Port Arthur the night of February 8-9. Today reports reaching Tokyo said Japan and Soviet Russia were strengthening their garrisons along the borders of Manchoukuo.)

"Japan has not changed—in fact, Japan is more aggressive than ever," declared one of the articles the 1904 war anniversary which asserted that Soviet Russia had abandoned the old imperialist lust for conquest which led to the downfall of the czarist regime.

Written by Emelyan Yaroslav-sky, head of the militant godless league, this article said the Japanese should not forget they no longer face an "utterly rotten" czarist state. He said the new Russia was "an unshakable block of granite-and a first-class military power on land and sea, in the air and under water."

The Soviet charge d'affaires at Tokyo was instructed to protest energetically against "the continuing provocative action of Japanese and Manchoukuoans despite warnings delivered to the Japanese government only a few days ago.

THE DIES COMMITTEE

Mr. Dies has had his committee's life extended until January 1, and the Congress has approved that $100,000 be given for the further examination of un-American activities. Washington sources term the time extension a compromise, and hint that the chairman of the committee has been prevailed upon to change his tactics somewhat.

No citizen has any complaint with the subject of the inquiry conducted by Dies. The body which he directs is seeking information concerning the extent of subversive activities in this country, and is charged with making recommendations for combatting un-American practices as followed by the Communist party, the Nazi Bund and home-grown varieties of minority terrorism.

The subject and the method, as pursued by the ambitious gentleman from Texas, are vastly different considerations however, and it must be hoped that the congressman has seen the light and been led to the path of intelligent investigation. For the committee last year permitted any crackpot seeing red spots to villify, without consideration, any official or citizen the spot-afflicted witness desired. Despite the fact Mr. Dies maintains that these accused persons were invited to appear before the committee to give their side of the question, members of the house rules committee examining the request for continuance of the probe remarked that many had asked to appear before that body to refute his statement. In any event, the damage had been done when the committee permitted irresponsible assertions to be made in public hearings, and denials of these sensational, if crack-brained, assertions would have been nothing short of anti-climatic.

If the tactics of the committee are changed, much that is good may be expected from the work of the Dies body. If they are not, then the committee itself will stand accused of fostering the very activities it has been commissioned to correct.

ANOTHER NUMBERS GAME

Another numbers game always gets into full swing about this time of the year. Fortunately, however, it calls for no investigation by the grand jury. No insect is involved, it seems, save that bug who hankers after a trick number for his automobile identification tag.

As an indication of how he rates at the capital of an eastern state, according to the February number of Nation's Business, a certain politician boasts of his ability to get, year after year, number 123,456 for his automobile. Another official has had reserved, for his personal use, the number of his residence. A patronage dispenser of considerable prominence put in a request for "UH," signifying "Understanding Heart," but upon being advised he could not be accomodated, took the substitute, "GH," indicating "Great Heart."

It is ludicrous, to say the least, to what lengths some grown men and women will go to acquire trick numbers for their cars. An undertaker, for instance, displayed the suggestive "U2" on one of his hearses until the morbid idea so palled his friends he was forced to give it up or lose some of his prospective business.

The owner of a dog kennel and breeding farm secured, for his personal conveyance, the identification "K9" and seemed particularly proud of it. A filling station operator boasted of "OIL" on his tag. But there was the young spinster who drew, without asking for it, the label "IAM42." She soon came back and asked for another plate. The "razzing" was a bit too much for her. But the young lady who was tagged "ME2" didn't object.

The "numbers racket," as the Nation's Business calls it, is said to have added extra expense to the department in the state mentioned. It was, for this reason, discontinued by a new administration.

Firemen were overcome as cabbage smoldered in a western warehouse blaze, and the hunt continues for the good five-cent cigar.

If and/or is correct, how about referring to our Mr. Wilson as the American ambassador to/from Germany?

Any large office personnel has those characters mentioned in the song-the two sleepy people who are out of cigarets.

Until there is some sort of consensus on what kind of shape the world is in, globe manufacturers must continue to make them round.

It is hotly disputed whether Mr. Roosevelt set our frontier in France. We shall know, if the next fireside chat begins, "My friends and

Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to be neutral.

THE TRAFFIC PICTURE

The 25-mile-an-hour speed law has undoubtedly proved one of the most valuable contributions to the general traffic picture in Atlanta in recent years. It is designed primarily to prevent accidents, costly damages, and, more important, to save lives. This it has done with a definiteness that has a tendency to lull Atlantans into an acceptance of other conditions which are serious today, and become more serious each year.

The most immediately important problem is that of increasing the rate of traffic flow without raising the speed limit. This can be accomplished through various mechanical adjustments, such as staggering of traffic light operation, parking regulations and elimination of bottlenecks.

But each of these adjustments is a temporary expedient. It takes care of conditions prevailing at the time. There is little permanent correction, since any increase in the traffic load may automatically nullify the correc-

The time is fast approaching when Atlanta must insist upon more permanent measures to relieve conditions that even today are serious. Probably foremost is the parking problem, to which a temporary answer has been found in the large number of parking lots being operated. They have absorbed many of the automobiles barred from street parking, yet there is nothing about them which can be classed as permanent. With one or two exceptions, the ground is privately owned, and a renewal of building activity-which would in itself increase the traffic problem-will eliminate many lots. It is obvious, then, that these buildings and others like them must provide the parking space. A return to street parking is impossible, and impractical. The city government must then make use of its control over building to insist that parking facilities be provided in relation to the use to which the building will be placed. The same would apply to new apartment houses and homes.

In a similar manner, provision should be made for eventual widening of certain streets and eliminating bottlenecks that today effectually slow traffic.

Equally important is the education of the individual driver. No small part of the traffic stagnation in the downtown section can be traced to the motorist who insists upon driving at a 15-mile-an-hour rate in the middle of the street when the way is clear for a speed nearer the limit-or the curb. To put it mildly, this is a selfish abuse of street privileges and equally as dangerous as excessive speed. The 25-milean-hour limit is predicated not alone on a reduction of the higher speeds, but also a speeding up of the plodder to a point at which all traffic is enabled to flow smoothly. This eliminates the necessity for dangerous passing, for sudden spurts of speed to get around the 15mile-an-hour driver and for police concentration at points at which traffic has a tendency to become jammed. This will also make the 25-mile speed ceiling practical, rather than honored more in the breach than in the observance.

Strangely enough, each of the factors in the general traffic picture requires an expert, nonpolitical approach, which, despite the great advances made in meeting the traffic problem in Atlanta, the city has not yet provided. There has been considerable discussion of the practicality of placing traffic under the sole control of an able man, removing it from the necessity for councilmanic interference. It must not be considered that the temporary improvement resulting from the speed limit charge as removed the need for this revision in the handling of the general traffic problem.

BACHELOR BLISS

Bachelors claim with a very deep degree of pained surprise that there is a considerable degree of vindictiveness behind the bill introduced in the Georgia general assembly proposing the imposition of a head tax on their kind. Majority tyranny, as it were. They lay the blame on the head of the married gentry who. they say, are envious of their single-blessedness. Of course, they don't consider that the Benedicts might have proposed the levy to bring to the attention of these bachelors the joys of connubial bliss. As to the bachelor claim that they constitute the balance wheel of society, who ever heard of society being balanced? For the bachelors to take credit for balancing society is closely akin to Hitler-one of their kind, incidentallyclaiming he has balanced society in Germany.

The merits of the bill may be great. Proponents, after the immemorial manner of all proponents, assert them to be manifold above and beyond the immediate aim of swelling the coffers of state. But it does smack a little too much of Mussolini's now well-known campaign for more bambinos for the guns of Italy. He put a tax on bachelors, and look at Italy!

WHAT GERMANY DID TO US

(From The Spartanburg Herald) Senator Reynolds, of North Carolina, who has developed an affection for the Nazi government, is said to have asked, "What the hell has Germany ever done to us?"

Well, something more than 20 years ago Ger-many started a war that deluged France with blood. She sank ships, on which Americans were passengers, with her U-boats. The people of the United States were outraged and this country was forced into the war. More than 50,000 of our soldiers lost their lives in foreign lands and an equal number died in other service. American prisoners were held in German camps and when the Armistice was signed they were released to stagger across the line to find decent food and raiment and recuperate from disease and weak

Those are some of the things Germany did to us and, if we are to believe Hitler and his press, they are nothing to what the present German gov-ernment would do to us if another opportunity should be offered. Are the "Vindicators," an order founded by Senator Reynolds, expected by him to vindicate Germany?

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

EXTRAORDINARY VENTURE WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Attorney General Frank Murphy has embarked on an extraordinary venture. He is trying to clean up the Department of Justice, which has long been a cosy maggot-hutch, inhabited, except in two or three divisions, by lobbyists and political hacks. And, far more important, he is trying to reform the system of appointment to the federal judiciary.

Time out of mind, and by the President just as much as by his predecessors, the judicial branch of the government has been treated as a vast reservoir of patronage. Judgeships themselves are rich plums. They carry with them the power to distribute all sorts of minor jobs, and to divide opulent receiverships and the like among the faithful. Fortunately, however, Murphy is unable to see judgethe faithful. Fortunately, however, Murphy is unable to see judge-ships simply as God-given ways of taking care of the boys. He has a peculiar passion for clean courts.

So far it appears that the President will permit Murphy to gratify his passion, just as he allowed Attorney General Homer S. Cummings to indulge his fondness for political hacks. The fact that Dean G. Acheson has been offered a District of Columbia circuit court place; the passing over of an unsavory recommendation by Senator Joseph F. Guffey, in order to put Francis Biddle on the Philadelphia circuit; the plan to supplant Judge Martin Manton with Judge Robert P. Patterson—all these testify to Murphy's honest intentions and ability to make them come true.

DIVIDING THE BLAME The senate is bound to be roiled up by Murphy's effort. It's extremely unlucky, therefore, that the prelude to the effort should be the business of the Virginia judgeship, in which Senators Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd so roundly trounced the President. The Virginia judgeship business was an unpleasant political squabble. The President was attempting to use the methods of purge in the Old Carter Glass and Harry Byrd were defending the ancient senatorial prerogative of passing on appointments in their own state. Glass and Byrd won hands down.

For conservatives, it was delightful to see the methods of the purge rejected by the senate. But it can hardly be delightful to any thinking person to see the ancient senatorial prerogative simultaneously supported. It is one of the chief causes of the really disgraceful nature of many judicial appointments under the New

The President must share the blame. The high-sounding phrases of his letter to his disappointed Virginia nominee seemed a little silly, just after Gaston Porterie, a member of Louisiana's Long ring who had been expelled for cause from the state bar associatio successfully placed on the federal bench. They seemed a little silly after such nominations as that of Harry Kalodner, a pet hack in Joe Guffey's Pennsylvania organization, whom the President re-cently found perfectly fit to be a judge. Indeed, a cheerful carelessness about the quality of his judicial choices has been one of the President's really distressing traits. At the same time, the senators who pressed for and cheerfully confirmed men like Porterie are as much to blame as the President.

LESSON OF MANTON As the President's righteousness is a sudden spasm, and has now been tied up with the Virginia case, Murphy is bound to have trouble on the hill. Certainly, whether Murphy wins or loses in the end, there is dire need for a spasm of righteousness, as the Manton case proves. Exceedingly questionable practices by Judge Manton were on the public record as long ago as May, 1937, when one of his deals figured in the Securities and Exchange Commission's investment trust study. This revelation suggested no need for action to Homer Cummings' Justice Department. Nothing was done until Thomas E. Dewey started an investigation, to which the Justice Department was tipped off. What was done then was to make superficial inquiries, and drop the matter. In fact, Justice Department laxity was so great that the Manton case might have been allowed to go by default if it had not been that Frank Murphy acted at once, asking for Manton's resignation almost immediately after he took office. And, as it was, Dewey should have credit for the real Patronage at the Justice Department and patronage in the courts with such results as the Manton case, are ancient American habits. Frank Murphy plans to try to break the habits. can do is to wish him good luck. He will need it.

It was my privilege on Tuesday of this week to attend one of President Roosevelt's press conferences at the White House. Thought some of you might be interested in how these affairs are conducted. Gladstone Williams, Constitution correspondent in Washington, had arranged things in advance for me to be there and, at about 3:30 o'clock that afternoon, we took a trance. There was a concert or something on, attracting a lot of women, and some avenues were hoked with cars moving slowly up to disgorge the guests and then to

It was a biting at-tack on Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, and, as this is written, everyone in Washington is eagerly awaiting the 'veteran senator's promised rebuttal.

Then the President got on the subject of a story which had been carried by one news service, about this government permitting the sale of army airplane detectors to the British. His explanation was nighly satisfactory, but he was emphatic in condemnation of the official-didn't name him, however-who had given out the orignal story. Said he didn't blame the man who wrote the story or the papers that published it, for it was, admittedly, a good story.

Somebody asked if they could quote him direct on the matter and he replied, "Suppose you say, 'a President who requested that his name not be used.' Is that a good

True American NEW YORK, National Game too late for all fair-minded, right-thinking Americans to wire James Farley a protest against his decision to honor baseball as the American national game in another of his gala issues of postage stamps. This is a gross misrepresentation and a brutal injustice to the true national game of the country and the preference of the vast majority.

The true American national is not played with any sort of ball. fuzz or wind, not with any hat either, although in some versions, under formal conditions a sort of rake is used which is called a stick.

The national game of the U. S. A. is played with two small cubes, each bearing on its sides from one to six dots. It is played by Americans of both sexes and all races and it is no exaggeration to say that its devotees outnumber the tors by at least 100 to 1. Indeed, it may be assumed that because they are Americans all ball players and spectators also play occasionally the game of craps, which was so far the favorite of the American Expeditionary Force that baseball football and boxing were looked upon as mere peculiarities of a lew eccentrics

Played at This is a sport White House which requires neither youth, acreage, plant nor large teams, but may be played and is played on army blankets, on little bare patches of ground in alleys on tables and on the floors of mansions and penthouses. It has been played in the very White House itself, and under the dome of the national capitol, repository of the sacred if slightly mouse-eaten heritage of our liberties. It is a great institution, the only perfec-

American equalizer except death. It is a game which Americans can and do play with their mothers and grandmothers; it is an instinctive, sometimes breaking into action at the mere suggestion of a pair of dice roled out on a table in stag or mixed company. Its rules, terms, protocol and prob-abilities are familiar to more persons than their constitutional rights, and it contains no infield fly rule.

No less than baseball, whose fanous finesse has not been overstated, the game of craps presents marvels of subtlety and skill played by experts, wherein the hand is quicker than the eye and the sandlot sucker has no more chance than a second string high school pitcher against the New York Yankees. It has been carried around the world in the tourist quarters and forecastles of ships, and it may be played by the sick and lame as well as by the athlete. One never retires from the game of craps. One always comes

They make its rules and regulate the friskiness of the standard ball for revenue sometimes, with intent to swindle, as in cases where minor leagues have ised an outside golf ball to swell the marks of their hitters and sell them high to the majors. It is played by only a few thousand professionals, who must be white men, and perhaps an equal or slightly larger number of amateurs -and played rather badly by the latter group, at that.

It is a real nice game and fanous and beloved among us, but on the basis of participation, familitarity, fascination and democratic feeling the sport which Mr. Farley must honor as the national game of the United States is craps. Baseball may be second, but even so it is not even close.

UP ON THE LIMBS The professional political hawks and, to be frank, some buzzards, are sitting one the limbs of the political tree in Georgia cocking an eye at the legislative progress in taxation. Perhaps there is one eagle in the tree. I'm not sure.

They sit there, cocking an eye, and trying to estimate the public reaction to the proposed measures and which one has the best chance of becoming a law. They are the boys who plan to run for state offices in the future.

They occupy the choice position—the political outs. You may hear them speaking out boldly for no taxes. And just as boldly for all improvements and services. They are for the school program, expansion of the university system, a health program in ery county and for all other improvements.

But for no taxes with which to pay for them.

The outs are, of course, a varied lot. Some of them measure up as good men. Most of them don't. The demagogues among them naturally hope for the worst. A demagogue has the best chance of election when the people are entirely out of sympathy with the established order and want to protest. A check will show that whenever a demagogue is elected the ote is larger than in the ordinary election years. And so they all, the hawks and the buzzards, watch the developments. The hawks want to pick the flaws and to come through with a solution which will enable them to retain sufficient services and at the same time please those out of sympathy with the administrations, state or national. The buzzards are those who promise to upset everything, to give the people everything without cost.

They are busy behind the scenes—waiting and watching. The limbs of the political tree are filled. And woe betide the boys who make the mistakes. Their political bones will be picked clean. Politics is great fun.

THE NEED FOR ECONOMY There ought to be economy. One and all agree on it. The issue really is up to the legislature. It must initiate laws which will bring about economy. The important thing is that these laws be initiated only after careful consideration and that, for the sake of the public, they be enacted for the purpose of economy and not for political revenge.

The consolidation of many of Georgia's counties, civil service and other measures designed to bring about more efficient govern-ment, would bring about economy. The reorganization of county and local governments, their relationship one to the other, would bring about the saving of millions of dollars. Yet none of these things are given any very real consideration for the sole reason they would upset the accepted political order in local and county organi-

Hence, the danger the public may be penalized by the enactment of legislation which is not primarily designed to bring about but to obtain political revenue. This is true in state and national government

Governor Rivers asked the legislature to show where savings could be had and to help do the saving. His political enemies say he had to say it. His political friends say he said it sincerely. Whatever the reason, he said it. The issue is therefore up to the legislature. There again is the necessity for ignoring political ani-mosity and voting legislation which will benefit the people and the services the state must give them. And not to start a general attack on any and all governmental services. The time is coming, when the legislature is done, when it must decide if it will maintain the services the people want and how they will be sustained. No matter how many bureaus or boards are abolished, the services still must be paid for or abolished. Economy will not pay for them. Economy ought to be given the people in state government. But it will not pay the way for schools, health, the University System and for social legislation. What will pay

ONE OF THESE DAYS! One of these days there must be a general reorganization of county and local governments. It is an inescapable fact that county and local government today is called upon to render many services which the legislation establishing it never anticipated.

The states, counties and cities vitally need some new organizawipe out duplication of service; duplication of courts and court services. It will come slowly because it comes in the Democratic manner. No one man can order it. It can come only when the people become sufficiently aroused to vote for men who are willing to place service to their government over politics. It is too much now to expect that county politicians would be willing to see their county consolidated with three or four others with the quent loss of two-thirds or three-fourths of the jobs. It is against human nature.

One of these days the time will come when enough people will vote to have it done. Until then we must make slow progress; must see the buzzards in office on occasions of spontaneous and unthinking protest; must continue to work at reorganization of local and county government so that it can be efficient and economical. Meanwhile, the people have a right to real economy—they have a right to know each tax dollar is being economically spent. But they also have a right to services in schools, health and social

Dempsey Can Endure Insults That Would Make a Little Man Start Fighting

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

"American State Papers, Indian Affairs," not only give an authentic record of the young nation's struggles, but afford abundant evidence that our people have changed little with the passing years.

Long after the nation was formed, people on the frontier still had to fight their own battles, without help from the government. Spain still owned Florida and the Mississippi valley, the frontier men had no way to reach a market except by the Mississippi river, Spanish officials suspected them of an ambition to seize and hold it. The Spanish also hoped to annex all the frontier, land between the mountains and the great river, and to that end encouraged the Indians to keep up an incessant war on the settlers. They gave the Indians guns and ammunition, and any chief who could take a train of pack horses to Pensacola, Fla., was supplied with all the fighting equipment he could carry home. While this was going on, state governors and the government at Washington were doing their best to pacify the Indians and blaming the frontier people for most of the trouble.

The Indians, especially after St. Clair's shameful defeat and the massacre of his army, thought they could whip anybody. What they thought of the whites is best revealed by a quotation from the "American State Papers, Indian Affairs." A Creek warrior is speaking: "It is to our interest to keep up war with the United States. When we commit ravages against them, of ever so great a nature, we can easily hold a treaty and get large presents and be at peace. We can then repeat our conduct, for the people of the United States are very good-natured." Across the years we salute him! He spoke a prophetic and historical mouthful. A Japanese military man expressed the same idea last year, though he used the words "easy to fool." The Japanese, prizing "face" as the Indians did, are equally unable to understand the forbearance of the strong. Americans are a friendly people. It is one of the qualities that make our land a decent place to live. It may be misunderstood, but it is not a fawning friendliness. It is the patient tolerance of free men who are sure of their strength.

A proposal to authorize indus-trial insurance against losses from idle plants and depression prices drew unanimous approval of insurance committees in both house and senate of the Georgia general assembly last night.

Identical bills, offered separately in the two branches by Representative David S. Atkinson, of Chatham, and Senator Hadley S. own, of Brunswick, would permit incorporation of co-operative insurance exchanges by manufacturing companies guaranteeing inmnity against loss from shutdowns caused by any contingency except strikes, insurrection or war. James H. Allen, Savannah in-

Allen deplored unloading

With Humphrey Bogart as a star King of the Underworld" with Kay Francis comes to the Capitol theater for a week's engagement

In his first starring vehicle, the screen's super-gangster plays the part of a gang chief with a Napoleonic complex. He thinks he's the smartest and most daring bandit who ever lived.

Kay Francis, brilliant screen actress and her husband, in the story, John Eldredge, are surgeons. The husband by his skill saves the life of a wounded mobster, whereupon Bogart presses him into the service of the gang, without Kay's knowledge. But the husband is killed and Kay has to carry on alone.

On the stage the Capitol offers another vaudeville program fea-turing Jean Bedini, the Broadway juggling star and formerly featured in Ziegfeld Follies. Myles Bell and Jean Bedini, headline comedy stars, offer hilarious moments, while Vickie and Kay present a novel and unique routine of tap dance offerings. PIUS XI WAS ONE OF STRONGEST PONTIFFS IN MODERN TIMES

ELECTED TO HEAD CATHOLIC CHURCH ON FEB. 6, 1922

Pontiff Was Famed as 'Saint Maker' During Later Years; Visits to Rome Soothed Him.

As "Pope of the Conciliation," who after two years of negotiation with the Italian government ended the 59-year-old "Roman question" and regained temporal power, with rule over the Vatican City state, Pius XI stood out as one of the most forceful pontiffs of modern times.

Elected head of the Roman Cathclic church on February 6, 1922, he became, seven years later, the first Pope since Pius IX to reign as a temporal as well as a spiritual sovereign. He was the first pontiff in 59 years to extend paternal greetings to the King, Queen and Princes of United Italy. And he was the first after 1870 to leave the confines of the Vat-

An audience accorded by Pius to party late in 1929 apparently did much to dispel the misunderstand-ings and the dispute died down. A somewhat similar conflict of views as to the proper relations between the church and the government of a predominantly Cath-olic nation caused the bitter threeyear breach between Mexico and the Holy See. It had its genesis in a rebellion against Santa Ana in the '50's, and reached its apex of armed conflict in 1926. The "laws of Juarez," promul-gated in 1855 and 1857, suppressed ecclesiastical courts for civil cases, forbade the church to hold real estate for other than religious purposes and established free, nonsectarian schools. During the long regime of Porfirio Diaz these statutes were dead letters, but when that dictator was overthrown, the revolutionists revived the "Juarez principles" in the constitution of

Mrs. High Is Honored by Plaque in Carnegie Library

Miss Dorothy High Peteet, a sophomore at Agnes Scott College, yesterday unveiled a large bronze plaque in the children's room of Carnegie Library in honor of her grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Madison High, Atlanta philanthropist. The plaque was presented to the library by the Georgia Chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists. A $5,000 trust fund to buy books for the High collection in the children's room was one of Mrs. High's gifts.

Republican Drive on Salary Act Fails; Securities Report Doubtful. WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 .- (UP) The administration's controversial bill permitting reciprocal taxation of salaries of all government workers-federal, state and municipalwas passed by the house today, 269 to 103, after a Republican drive to kill it. The measure is the first section of President Roosevelt's reciprocal private citizens and government workers. The second section, for reciprocal taxation of income from federal, state and municipal securbama to return the flag. ities, is under consideration by a joint senate - house committee which may not report it favorably because of some doubt as to its

Cross-Taxation. The bill approved today would permit the federal and state governments to tax each other's work-ers. At present federal workers pay only federal income taxes and state employes only state taxes. Other congressional develop-

Representative Pat Boland, Democrat, Pennsylvania, intro-duced a bill authorizing $100,000 for the Labor Department to finance deportation of aliens.

G. S. Canright, of the Continendenture bill would increase costs of stock flotation so that "small business would be prevented from obtaining loans at all."

Park Superintendent. L. Ickes rejected a request by Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, for removal of J. Ross Eakin as superintendent of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, McKellar complained that Eakin is a West Virginian, not a Tennesseean, and that he had staffed the park with many Republicans. Ickes said an inquiry revealed the charges are unfounded. The senate approved two reso-lutions by Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, requesting the Department of Commerce and the Interior Department to bring up-to-date their surveys of previous findings on the proposed Florida ship canal. One requests the United States Geologcal Survey to report at an early supplies.

Because We Never Grow Up, Toys Make Exercise More Enjoyable

Make-Shift Gym Turns Exercise Into Mere Play

You can either buy an adjustable stretching bar or have a rod cut the width of a doorway and use sockets to hold it in place. The bar should be high enough in the doorway so that you can just reach it when standing on tiptoe.

There are any number of stretching bar exercises that do elegant things for your figure. One of the speediest streamliners is to stand on the toes, grasping the bar with both hands, and push down with the heels until you are standing flatfooted with your midsection pulled out long and slim.

To flatten the tummy, grasp the bar firmly and raise alternate knees to the chest. Take inches off the sides of the waist by grasping the bar and standing on toes. hips squarely to the front, legs together and swinging from side to

All stretching bar exercises get at those forgotten muscles on the back of the arms and raise and not to have the bar too high. You avoid the possibility of strain by having the bar within reach when standing on tiptoe.

Swing a pillow—a fairly hard one—from the bar and use it as a punching bag. For a workout of the muscles on the back of the arms, have the pillow hanging about chest level. It should be higher, so that the arms thrust upward, to strengthen the pectoral muscles and lift the bust.

There is no better circulation jogger than a skip rope. Skipping rope is splendid exercise for flab-by or underdeveloped legs, but not so good for legs that are muscularly overdeveloped. You can also use your rope for stretching exercise. Double it, hold it in either hand high overhead, and stretch and bend acutely from side to

Ordinary Cold May Prove Fatal

By Dr. William Brady.

Child seven years of age succumbed to diphtheria in hospital, scarcely 24 hours after having een brought there by the parents. On entering hospital the child was cyanotic (blue or dusky), lips blanched, gasping and fighting for breath. In the emergency a tube had to be placed in the larynx to give the child some air. The history given by the parents was-

The parents said the child had been all right until the night before, when they noticed he could not breathe properly. They had called a doctor who prescribed for the child and instructed the parents to call him if the child was not better in two hours. The doctor's medicince seemed to induce slight vomiting, after which the child seemed better, so the parents had not called the doctor again until next morning. When the doctor arrived he saw the child was in a desperate state and rush ed him to the hospital for intuba

Besides, inserting the tube in the throat, the hospital physician gave the child immediately 60,000 units of anti-toxin in the ordinary way and 10,000 units in dextrose solution directly into the vein.

Now on closer questioning the child's father said the boy had been suffering with just an ordinary cold for several days, but as had not seemed feverish and kept at play and at school, the parents had paid little attention to it. Oh, yes, the childs' voice had hoarse, too, but still the parents thought it was just an or-dinary cold, and, indeed, they had not thought of having medical advice until they noticed the difficulty in breathing.

I should like to repeat a few things I have said many times before, and leave you to draw your own moral.

There is no such condition as a "common cold," "ordinary cold," "slight cold," "bad cold or "just a

A Man's Love By His Gifts

By Caroline Chatfield.

Vignettes: The wife who backed her train of thought on the siding when the children were born looks wistfully out of the window to see her hus-band shoot by her on a streamlined express.

The extrovert in the act of unlocking the doors and win-dows of his introvert friend, determined to let him out for one big evening.

Dear Miss Chatfield: The boy riend swears he loves me and gets mad with me for doubting him but the little things don't add up to my way of calculating. For instance, on my birthday he came by to say he hadn't had a moment to buy me a gift and so he wanted me to take $5 and buy my own. Of course I refused to accept it, which made him furious. You know he could have found time in a whole year to select a gift for me, if he had had me on his mind. What do you think? -AKRON.

Answer: It was fine that you had the delicacy to refuse the five and, of course, they boy friend showed bad taste in offering it. But you can't check a man's love by his talent for selecting gifts and you can't make feminine sentimentality and masculine matter-of-fact-

So long as the boy friend re-members the birthday he's doing passably well and when he ponies up he's making the grade. Unfair charge him with indifference until he forgets the big day. Stupid to fall out with him over a bit of bad taste when he's trying to please.

Listen, girlle, there has been more conjugal bliss destroyed, more bitter tears shed, more staged over anniversaries re-membered not than over any other subject that husbands and wives disagree on. Every one of you should learn now that there's not one man in a mil-lion born knowing what every woman knows; that a foolish female puts more of a premium on a trifle selected for her and bestowed upon her by the man she loves, than she puts on "one grand" given her to buy her

One of two things you must do f you are to live happily ever ofter: train the boy friends to buy trinkets; or accept the masculine point of view; namely, that money talks and those that have the cash in hand can swap it for what they want.

You Can't Check MY DAY Party Presents Parade Of First Ladies

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON.—Mrs. Morgenthau, wife of the secretary of the treasury, had her annual luncheon for me yesterday, and enlivened it by a novel table decoration. These arrangements always fascinate me. At Mrs. Hull's luncheon I much admired the charming little Dresden china figures and ornaments decorating her table. Mrs. Morgenthau laid out the center of her table as nearly like the White House rose gardens as possible, and up and down the greensward placed six authentically dressed dolls representing various "First Ladies." Each of them was there to bring me a message reflecting the years of her experience as the wife of a President and the verses were in character and pertinent to present-day problems.

Some of the ladies, Martha Washington and Rachel Jackson, for instance, never lived in the White House, but they have a message for us today, nevertheless. I wish we all knew more about these women, many of whom were real influences in one way or another in their day. One of Washington's best newspaper-women did a series of articles on president's wives and, much to my regret, I have never seen them very widely printed. The other day a well-known author sent me a sketch on Mrs. Monroe, which I think he had done for the radio. It certainly gave me much information and I think would be of interest to many women. Yesterday afternoon we had a musical here at which Freida Gronowetter played the cello charmingly and Charlotte Hamilton, a contralto, sang. Both gave us a delightful hour. Afterwards, at tea, I had a chance to talk to a number of people, among them some Englishwomen who spoke with great interest of the visit in early summer of their King and Queen. One more appointment at 5:30 and then a swim.

At 8 o'clock we started for our annual dinner with the Vice President and Mrs. Garner. We had, as usual, a very pleasant evening. Mr. Gene Buck, who always provides the entertainment, produced a marvelous magician, Mr. John Mulholland, who per-formed seemingly impossible feats before our eyes. There was also Fred Waring's band and a chorus which the leader told me represented 28 states. All the musicians seemed young, and they were all Americans. The emphasis was largely on doing the unusual. One boy performed a dance while playing a saxophone, which really proved him to be an acrobat of the first water When I woke this morning I felt as though there was a stirring of spring in the air and by 11 o'clock I was out on the bridle path. In February, we nearly always have a few days here when we begin to think that spring is just around the corner and then, before we know it, our hopes are dashed and back we are in midwinter again. I don't feel very hopeful today because the weather prophecy is "increasing cold."

Atlantan Hobnobs With Notables Nancy Hart D. A.R. During Recent Visit in New York Will Unveil Markers

Two outstanding musicians, Lawrence Tibbett, operatic baritone, and Irving Berlin, composer, are the Youngs' next-door neighbors. Ellen confessed to Sally that she was quite attracted to the Berlin Leaves For Florida

In answer to Sally's query concerning her general impression of New York, Ellen replied in glow-ing terms: "I have decided that I am a completely incurable en-thusiast, romanticist and sentimentalist, for here I am after years of working on a 'newspaper, in bookshops and in one of the largest stores in New York, still getting a terrific kick out of hob-nobing with celebrities, of being jostled and shoved about in the after-theater crowds on gaudy old Broadway; of making the round of night clubs on Fifty-second street; of sitting warm and comfortable in Carnegie Hall on a dark, bleak afternoon listening to the Philharmonic concert; or in riding down to Washington square on a Fifth avenue bus. And, no matter how many times I go to Gotham, the minute I am in the Hudson tunnel my heart turns somersaults with the thrill of expectancy, and once I've breathed ne ounce of it's air-again New York owns me." "Did you meet any celebri-ties?" Sally asked.

"Oh, yes," replied Ellen. "One of my really big moments was when I met Douglas Fairbanks Jr. during the intermisison of Porter's show, 'Leave It to Me.' Doug is a delightful boy, slim and sandy-haired, with twinkling gray eyes, and a smile that could literally 'charm the birds off the

Upon being asked if she saw any Atlantans while in the glamour city, Ellen burst into another tirade of inspired description. She explained that, although everyore has different friends in New York, occasionally the various cliques meet at a party, and chat "loud and long" about the daily doings of the several groups. While attending the cocktail party given by Elinor Hillyer, a former Atlantan, the southern visitor renewed her acquaintanceship with Lois and Alan Taylor, another couple who formerly re-

Guy Woolford also entertained for Ellen and her companions, after which they proceeded to "Tony's" for supper. "There we ran right into Jack Oakie!" exclaimed the charming Atlantan. "He is really grand fun, and insisted on our spending the evening with him-which we did. He took us to several night clubs, where we basked in his glory. When we walked into a place, waiters scrambled to prepare a table that was perfectly situated, and to arrange the spotlight so that it played upon our little

Ne good de la constitue de la

If you left your halo in heaven, here's a cherubic chapeau to replace it. A heart-shaped rough straw draped with silk jersey. Black with Royal, navy with chartreuse, brown with gold, and other combinations

A flattering frame of rough straw is swathed in veiling that ends in a frothy bow . . . designed to give you that winsome look. All the new Spring shades with contrasting veils.

Yes, my darling daughter! This dressmaker bathing suit flaunts a flounce of ruffles around its skirt. Navy, white, and red geometric print in pique.

Your little sister's play suit grows up. Pink, blue, or yellow linen demurely trimmed with white pique.

Japonica pink blossoms on sheer navy. Pink petticoat ruffles peek provocatively from under a 12-gored skirt, while pink bengaline outlines the neck and captures the pert sleeves with bowcatchers.

Black flowing chiffon, intricately shirred, and frosted with icy white lace, lends enchantment.

Chaste white color and cuffs write a naive note on this crepe wool suit. The basque jacket and swing skirt come in the new Spring shades . . . and navy and black.

The "little girl look" is stressed for Spring. Prettiness supplants chic, and our clothes are suddenly feminine and beguiling. Basque bodices, full girlish skirts, little girl tucks on chaste white blouses, guimpes under pinafore dresses, childish round collars, and yards of lace will help you achieve that fresh, dewy look. We find bathing suits prissy with ruffles, play suits that imitate a little girl's, shirtwaist and long skirts for evening, and huge bows, complete with streamers, on evening coiffures.

Watch out for a disarming heartbreaker. Eve, no longer a brittle sophisticate, has gone naive.

Nina Admits She Faked Her Drowning To Draw Andy's Attention to Herself

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Life had been very kind to her, Laura will be again, I've grown up, Andy, Look at me, darling." His eyes had with her earnings from and her salary, with her earnings from withing fiction, have enabled her to writing fiction and more in the way of material things than she's ever had." He grinned. He to writing fiction and more in the way of material things t WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Life had been very kind to her, Laura Wiley thinks, especially the last two years since Andy Cooper came into it. She likes her work as announcer at BRY and her salary, with her earnings from writing fiction, have enabled her to take care of her younger sister Nina, now 21, who is rebellious because heart trouble bars her from many of the activities of boys and girls of her age. So Laura is disturbed when Andy tells her that Bartlett Ford, top-rank New York advertising man, wants to take over the Cooper agency in Newbury and make Andy an important executive. She does not want to leave Newbury and with Andy gone her whole existence would be changed. She believes also that Andy would be doing himself an injustice as his agency is doing better and better and he would bury his identity in a large organization. She tells him this when they are driving out to the lake with Nina. As they talk on the shore, Nina swims out to a float, there is a cry for help, and Andy is almost out to her when a lifeguard takes her into his boat. He holds her in his arms as Laura drives quickly home, and apparently. Nina is little the worse for her experience gives her stimulants. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT IV.

Andy stood up. What the devil could a fellow do? This was serious. It was all right to say that Nina was temporarily emotionally unbalanced . . . but how was he to know whether it was temporare.

Sugar and Coffee. SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Liquidation of near-by positions and active hedge selling attributed to producing interests dominated the domestic and world sugar contracts today.

The decline in world contracts was touched off by the easier trend at London and final prices were 1 to 2 points net lower on sales of 19,200 tons. March ended 1.12½, September 1.11.

Selling in the No. 3 encountered only scale down demand and closing bids were 2 to 3 points off. Sales totaled 27,700 tons. No. 3 range follows:

thau Says; Incidental, Not Speculation, He Asserts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(UP) The controversy between Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, over whether operations of the secret $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund should be made public, remained at a standstill tonight after Morgenthau announced the fund had made a $12,000,-

In response to a letter from Lodge, regarding a statement by Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, that 000 net profit. such a profit has been made, Morgenthau said that it had. But Lodge rejoined that his question was "how did you make it?" and said that it is still unanswered as far as he is concerned.

Morgenthau made public his letter to Lodge at a press conference. It stated that the fund, established by the 1934 gold reserve act to stabilize the exchange value of the dollar, had increased $12,-000,000 not as part of the purpose for which it was created but "as an incident to its operation."

The letter also pointed out that "while congress appropriated $2,-000,000,000 as a stabilization fund, only one-tenth of that amount, $200,000,000, has been used as a working fund."

Morgenthau told reporters that the profit is now the highest that ever has been made by the fund, and stressed that none of it was earned by speculation. He also restated his belief that when the to fund is liquidated, it should be still used to retire government debt.

Georgia Tech Basketeers Upset Louisiana State Five, 37 to 35

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9.—It's a funny thing how a fellow off on what is playfully called a short vacation invariably will go around the places he shouldn't.

A sailor will take his sweetheart for a boat ride. A postman will indulge in a nice long walk. A motorman will hail the nearest street car. I guess it's human nature.

Anyway, it was out at the ball park, where the Crackers trained in 1935, that I ran across Jiggs Donahue. The younger generation may know vaguely of Jiggs Donahue. He played at of Los Angeles, played two matches Washington and Lee and was captain of the football team in each today to catch up with the 1914. He coached a couple of years at W. & L. and then went rest of the field.

The ball park here is built on an island. It is, as is cus- with tomary with islands, completely surrounded by water. And Jiggs Donahue said it reminded him of competition against Tech back in the days of 1914 through 1920.

With Richard Harris, of Nest Tech Palm Beach, in love sets, but dropped a set in the second, beating Stewart Kenyon, of Miami, 6-2,

"Old John Heisman (rest his soul) was using the jump shift at Tech then and before we'd know it we were completely surrounded by blockers. Tech liked to run the ball back in those days, of course, with such fellows around as Strupper, Barron, Flowers, Guyon and Harland.

"During the old rivalry we figured up a way to keep from getting crucified. We'd change our defense and let two or three fellows charge the interference and knock it down. That was the only chance. It seemed to me they never did come to a stop on that jump

Donahue is out of the coaching game now. His last fling from Louis Brownstein, of Miami, at it was with Western Reserve in Cleveland several years ago. 6-1, 6-4, in a second-round match. Last year Donahue managed the Greenville nine in the Sally league. In this connection, he spoke of John Rucker.

"He looks like a great prospect, but I hope the fans won't expect too much of him. Sometimes a rookie's chances are hurt by the fans, although they do it unintentionally. The player never lived who could do something every time he came to bat.

'Rucker will be colorful and if the folks go along with him he ought to make a great player within a year or two."

DONAHUE VERSUS DONAHUE.

Mike Donahue was coaching at Auburn when Jiggs Donahue was at W. & L. and Clemson. And they had quite a Donahue rivalry in the south at that time.

Jiggs Donahue recalled Moon Ducote, who also has passed on; recalled how he'd run right over a tackler and keep going. versity of South Carolina ringmen He also had a strong recollection of Boozer Pitts, who still has, as Jiggs said, "one foot on the Auburn campus.

Donahue said he noticed where Battle Bagley was an official in the Duke-Southern California Rose Bowl game. "Never will forget Bagley. He was at W. & L. when I was. They used to make fun of him, rivals did, because of his size. He only weighed 126 pounds soak-

"Well, anyway, one coach went so far as to urge us to keep Bagley out of the lineup against them because they had such fierce tacklers. Bagley heard about it. They never touched him all afternoon. He was a battler, Bagley was.'

Out of the coaching game now, Donahue said he did not wish to be put in the light of a second-guesser, but there are two things about the last football season he still doesn't under-

One is why Notre Dame didn't kick on fourth down just before the half ended in the Southern California game and the other is why Duke didn't call time out when Nave and Kreuger were staging their Merriwell finish for Southern Cal.

"I guess things were happening too fast in Duke's case, but only Notre Dame could get away with that escape more than or

"It has been my observation, after a long time as a coach, that the method of playing safe is the best. Kick when you're As part of a fencing do that the method of playing safe is the best. Kick when you're As part of a fencing double-supposed to kick. Anything can happen in football. See what header, Emory will cross swords but withdrew from school before happened to Carnegie Tech against Notre Dame. DISCOVERED COCHRANE AND RUFFING.

It was Jiggs Donahue who discovered Mickey Cochrane and Red Ruffing. They were players for him at Dover in the Eastern Shore league.

Donahue saw their possibilities and was responsible for them going up. Mickey went on to become one of the game's greatest catchers and managers. Ruffing developed into a pretty fair pitcher, too.

He always could hit, even back there in the Eastern Shore And Donahue said it really was no surprise that he should hold 'Nominal Raise in Salary' Given American League Home Run King.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9. (AP)-Walter O. Briggs, owner of the Detroit Tigers baseball club, said today Hank Greenberg, slugging first baseman, had signed his 1939 contract with a "nominal raise in salary."

Briggs declined to name the figure. He said Greenberg, who is vacationing here, visited Briggs' home this afternoon to complete the details. The slugegr, who walloped 58 home runs last season, had said when he arrived here that he expected no trouble over the terms.

The Tiger office had announced all players would be paid on the basis of their performance

Asked whether that meant Greenberg would have to tie Babe Ruth's home run record of 60 next season to get another raise, Briggs laughed and said:

"I don't know about that but you may be sure Greenberg will be on the field trying as hard as an athlete can."

Pep' Young Signs '39 Pirate Contract

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(A)— Righthander Bob Klinger, of Allentown, Mo., leading firstyear hurler in the National league last season, signed a oneyear contract today with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The 28-year-old pitcher won 2 and lost 5 for the Bucs in 1938. He was drafted from the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league.

Floyd (Pep) Young, Pirate second baseman, ended his short holdout by signing a one-year contract with a reported sub-stantial increase in salary. Young signed after a short liam Benswanger.

The Jamestown (N. C.) native batted .278 in the National league last year and led the senior circuit in assists and double

Mayor Is Presented Witchcraft Problem

A problem in witchcraft was resented to Mayor Hartsfield presented to Mayor Hartsfield yesterday. He disclosed a communication in which the writer urged that he be relieved of a "witch spell."

"I am writing to you to get you to put me in the Grady hospital and have a witch spell taken off," the crudely written card said. "I have been in this condition four years."

New Attorney General To Make Address Today.

The first address by Georgia's newest and youngest attorney general, 31-year-old Ellis Arnall, is to be delivered before the Atlanta Lawyers' Club this afternoon. Arnall, of Newnan, was named ast week to succeed M. J. Yeomans as attorney general when Yeomans resigned to become attor-ney and director of the newly created hospital authority. The first speech since he was elevated to the high position will be made at the Lawyers' Club room in the Citizens & Southern National Bank building at 5:30 o'clock.

WOMEN ARE FIRM.

In Oroville, Cal., Mrs. E. M. Grubbs found out by actual experience that women are harder on their own sex than men. Walk-ing along the left side of a highway thereby facing the traffic, she found that every male driver turned to give her ample room but every woman driver refused to cede an inch.

GEORGIANS LOSE CIVIL SERVICE

Hold Only 748 of 1,117 Positions to Which State Is Entitled.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 .- According to the latest report of L. A. Moyer, executive director and chief examiner of the United States Civil Service Commission, Georgia citizens are not getting a fair break in the matter of federal civil service appointments.

Although entitled to 1,117 po-1 Quart Size sitions, only 748 are now occupied by Georgians, while Washington, or the District of Columbia, is entitled to only 187 positions but actually occupies 8,760.

The classified civil service is located by law in the District of Columbia but it nevertheless includes only about half of the federal civilian positions in Wash-

Local Positions. Positions in local post offices, customs districts, and other field services outside of the district which are subject to the civil service act are filled almost wholly by persons who are local residents of the general community in which the vacancies exist, Moyer said.

"It should be noted, however, and understood," Director Moyer declared, "certifications of eligibles are first made from states which are in arrears."

When the house was debating the annual appropriation bill for independent offices, of which civil service is one of 40, Representa-tive Robert Ramspeck, of Georgia, chairman of the committee on civil service, congratulated the appropriations committee for giving to the Civil Service Commission the full amount recommended by the Bureau of the Budget.

Adequate Examination.

Mr. Ramspeck wants the com-mission to have all the money it needs so that its personnel may adequately cope with the problem of examining papers and assign-ing citizens to federal jobs from states that have long been behind their quotas.

"For many years," he said, "the Civil Service Commission has been handicapped in performing its duties by the lack of proper appropriations."

In order that every member of congress may have equal oppor-tunity of securing jobs for their constituents, Representative Ram-speck advised his colleagues that the commission had notified him that it had stationed one of its staff in the house office building for the purpose of being of service to members in dealing with any matters having to do with civil service.

VETERAN SKIPPER RETIRES. Captain Jules Chabot, known to many American tourists as captain of the French liner Ile de France, has retired after 38 years of trans-Atlantic navigation. He was succeeded by Captain Etienne Payen de la Garanderie, formerly captain of the Paris.
